ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The top environmental issues are selfishness, greed, and apathy to deal with them. There is a need for behavioral and cultural transformation in the human resource management space, particularly in life skills, to place our country as a global knowledge and superpower centre. Technology always helps humans perform at an optimal level. The knowledge landscape, big data, machine learning, artificial intelligence, etc. will be boons as they will give better predictions and solutions, which can be further used for the enhancement of productivity and profitability of organizations. Men will always prevail over machines for skilled and innovative jobs; however, it is admittedly true that machines will take over routine and unskilled jobs. There will be a sizable shift in how we meet the requirements of energy, water, food, and infrastructure in the future. The proposed conference will have pedagogy for more experimental, integrated, inquiry-driven, holistic, and learner-centered discussions that will be beneficial and fruitful for professionals working in different business areas.
